Assembly To Act On Socialists

Socialists May Secure Seats in Assembly

(By United Press)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The Assembly Judiciary committee by a vote of 7 to 6 reported the Gillette resolution which provides for the ousting of the five Socialist members who were barred last Spring, but re-elected at a special election recently. The resolution was without recommendation and will be passed on to the assembly for action.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Debate was expected to open in the assembly today on the question of whether the five Socialist members should be seated.

Ousted last winter on charges of disloyalty, the five men were re-elected in a special election in New York City last week.

The assembly judiciary committee was scheduled to meet this morning and take up an ouster resolution which was introduced last night by Representative Ranson Gillett, Republican, of Columbia.

Whether the House would adopt the report seemed problematical. Speaker Sweet last winter led the fight to expel the men. Last night, he read a statement declaring that the Socialist party had amended its constitution in such a way that its tenets were no longer objectionable to the assembly and held that under those conditions, the men were entitled to seats.

With the speaker no longer actively opposing the Socialists, it was believed in most quarters today that they would be voted in as members.

Order Modified

The interstate Commerce Commission on Friday modified its order prohobiting assignments of open top cars to wagon coal mines not equipped with tipples on elevations to the extent that such mines may receive open top cars from the surplus supply if able to load the cars within 24 hours. The modification resulted from numerous protests of wagon mine operators that they had been discriminated against, although in many cases their operations caused no more delay in car movements than tipple mines.

Custom House Guarded

New York, Sept. 21--Police and Federal agents today guarded the custom-house to forestall any possible attempt to dynamite it, following receipt of a warning that it was to be blown up at 2 p. m.. This warning, scrawled on a posteard addressed to W. H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue, advised officials to search all persons carrying bundles in which bombs might be concealed. It was signed, "A Citizen".

While police thought it probably was a hoax, they were taking no chances.

Meanwhile, the search went on for prepetrators of the Wall street bomb outrage. The death list was raised to 34; William Paterson, 29, Bogota, N. J., succombing to his injuries. Edwin P. Fischer who warned his friends of an impending catastrophe in Wall street, has been ordered placed in the physchopathic ward at Bellevue hospital for observation. Police and county investigators who questioned him, said they thought he was insane and that he had no real advance knowledge of the explosion plot.

Record Fast

London, Sept. 21.—The fortieth day of fasting for Lord Mayor MacSwiney began today with little change in the prisoner's condition. Sinn Fein bulletins again reported him exceedingly weak.

Sinn Fein leaders were indignant at reports that they had hidden the real condition of the hunger striker.

The London Evening News, claiming to have information from trustworthy source, said MacSwiney was surprisingly well, but sulky and disinclined to answer questions. The News said the mayor was able to sit up and to assist in his ablutions and that he read the newspapers interestedly.

Numerous stories of secret feeding revived as foes and supporters alike marveled at MacSwiney's condition on his fortieth day of hunger. His friends hotly declared that water and little medicine to prevent stomach pains were all that passed his lips.

The Irish office expected to send out an appeal today to Sinn Feiners, churchmen and friends of the various Irish hunger-strikers, urging the prisoners to take food.

The office argued that the men had proven adequately the depth of their convictions and the amount of suffering they would endure.

There is no chance for release of the prisoners, the statement said, and their death would mean the loss of whatever aid they might give their cause.

Death of MacSwiney and other strikers has been discounted by the long survival of all the men, the Irish office said.

School for Service Men

The Knights of Columbus school for former service men, and which has quarters in the old Gusky building will open for the fall term on Monday next. This school is absolutely free to service men, who may receive instructions in any branch of knowedge they may desire. Last term over 800 students were enrolled, and this number is expected to be increased during the coming term. If any former service man in Monessen desires to enter the school he is invited to make his application in person or by letter.

Leave For West

Michael Kokorada and bride will leave tomorrow to take up their residence in Kansas City. His bride was Miss Anna Radacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Radacy, and the wedding took place here September 15th, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Slupaski, pastor of the Reed avenue Catholic church. The young couple leaves here with the well wishes of a host of friends. Mr. Kororada holds a responsible position in a clerical capacity with a railroad company and the couple will reside at 68 N. Grandview St.

Millerand For President

(By United Press)

Paris, Sept. 21—Announcement of Premier Alexandre Millerand that he will be a candidate for the presidency was believed today to mean that Franc will increase the executive's powers.

Millerand throughout had insisted that he did not want an office which would be largely decorative.

Millerand's election was conceded The makeup of the cabinet assumed large interest, there being a belief that it might include former President Poincare in charge of Finances and positively Aristide Briand or Senator Jonnart as premier.

MILLS WILL TURN CLOCKS BACK AND RAILROADS WILL MAKE NEW SCHEDULES

The daylight savings plan which has been enjoyed by this city along with practically all other towns in the Monongahela valley as well as Pittsburgh and many other larger cities, will end Sunday morning at two o'clock, when all time pieces will be turned back one hour to standard time. With this change the time in all cities and towns will be the same and the confusion that has been experienced by travelers will be at an end, trains on all lines running at a uniform time, and all communities having a standard time.

The local mills will resume work Sunday on the new time and there will be no noticeable confusion in making the change, all that is necessary being the turning back of all clocks one hour before retiring Saturday night. The local school will resume study periods Monday morning on the new time and the street cars will be operated on standard time in order that everything may be uniform.

The P. & L. E. railroad will issue a new schedule effective Sunday in keeping with the new arrangements and although no information has been received as to the proposed changes it is expected that the same trains will be in operation with changes in keeping with the turning back of the clock one hour. Curfew which is now sounded at ten o'clock will, beginning Sunday night, notify children to be off the streets at nine o'clock. Business places will all abide by the new time.

Much dissatisfaction has been expressed this year over the time problem, and it may be said to have been a complete failure, due to the fact that it was not universal and that more sections stuck to the old time than changed to the "fast" time. Many believe that when the clocks are again turned back to the old time they will never again be moved forward. The system was all right as a war measure, but it doesn't work out where there is no central directing agency.

9,000,000 Women Will Vote

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—About 9,000,000 women will vote in the November election and they undoubtedly hold the balance of political power. This statement is based on a computation made from the women's vote in the Main election.

About 80,000 women voted in the Maine Election. Based upon the census of 1910 that number is 32 per cent of the number of women 21 years of age who live in Maine. The Maine women number, according to the 1910 census, 248,309.

In the United States, according to latest census statistics there are 26,885,569 women of voting age. If the ratio of 32 per cent which existed in the Maine election prevails in all the states, and it probably will as the women generally will want to vote for the first time, there will be cast in the November election an aggregate woman vote of 8,602,741, or nearly nine millions. In the Northern states the per centage probably will be higher, and in the Southern states lower because in the "Solid South" the black man is largely disfranchised, and the negro women will receive the same political discrimination in that section. But the Nation's average probably will be about 32 per cent, which will give nine millions.

Similar statistics show that there are 29,577,620 men of voting age in the United States. In the presidential election of 1916 there were cast 18,528,763 ballots, 62 per cent of the total male population 21 years of age. It can hardly be expected that so large a per centage of the women will vote, but it may be safely said that at least 32 per cent of them will.

Therefore it is evident to all observers that the women now hold the political balance of power. In the Maine election about 75 per cent of the women voted the Republican ticket. If that per centage should prevail in all the states north of the Mason and Dixon line and in the west a Republican landslide of unprecedented magnitude would occur. That landslide is confidently expected by the Republican managers and indeed in Washington is practically already acknowledged by Democratic observers.

But it will not require 75 per cent of the nine million women voting the Republican ticket to cause a landslide to Harding and Coolidge. If 32 per cent of the women voters in New York participates in the election it will add nearly a million votes in the Empire State. In 1916 Hughes carried New York by more than 100,000, the total vote being 1,706,254. Had the women voted then a 100,000 plurality would have been increased several times over.

In Pennsylvania a 32 per cent ratio would have added nearly 750,000 women's votes to the total of nearly 1,300,000 cast for Hughes in 1916. Hughes carried Pennsylvania by 181,930, or about one-fourth of the women vote that may be cast in Pennsylvania in November.

Wilson carried Ohio in 1916 by 83,502. In Ohio if the 32 per cent ratio occurs nearly half a million women will vote, eleven times Wilson's plurality in 1916.

There can be no question but that the women now hold the key to the National political situation and can throw victory to Republicans or Democrats. Judging from the way they voted in the Maine election, it would seem that a great majority of the newly enfranchised citizens are preparing to line up throughout the country, except in the South, for Harding and Coolidge.

Every intelligent observer must agree that the result in Maine was a complete repudiation of the League of Nations by the women, and a tremendous Republican victory, which is ominous of Democratic defeat in November. Women can justly claim a great share of the victory in Maine. Had the women voted for the League, the victory would have been equally significant of Democratic victory in November.

Patient Escaped

Charles Palm, colored, taken to the Monongahela Memorial hospital early last Sunday morning from Donora, suffering from severe cuts inflicted by William Fairclaw, whom he shot through the groin in a row over a "craps" game, took French leave and walked out of the hospital on Wednesday. The hospital authorities informed the Donora officers and Chief Smedley and Constable Titus started on the lookout for him. He was apprehended in a short time, and arraigned before Justice Ford, who held him for court in the sum of $500 bail for a hearing in ten days, or when his victim is in condition to appear as a witness. In default he was committed to the county jail.

Quick End To Race Riots In Chicago

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 21. — Chicago's "black belt" was in a state of siege early today with two police battalions on duty, following race disturbances last night which caused the death of one man and the serious injury of eight others.

The butbreak, starting when a negro wielding a knife nearly decapitated Thomas E. Barrett, white, reached a climax with five thousand angered whites milling about St. Gabriel's Catholic church, demanding the surrender of three negroes hiding within. Cordons of patrolmen stayed the mob with drawn revolvers, while Father Thomas W. Burke quieted the race hatred and the three negroes were spirited away by detectives.

The disturbances continued in other parts of the "black belt" until early morning, but police said they had the situation in hand and feared no further trouble.

Barrett was attacked after he had abused three negroes on a street corner, knocking one of them down, according to the police version. A crowd started in pursuit of the negroes. Others joined as the chase extended. The pursued had out-distanced the mob when the church was reached. One negro hid in the belfry, another in a confessional and the third covered himself with a pile of cassocks in the sacristy.

A boy who saw the negroes enter advised the crowd. The mob was threatening to storm the church when Father Burke speared and quietted them with an appeal that the police be allowed to act. Later when the crowd again became threatening, he made another appeal, and told the mob the police had taken the negroes away.

The mob broke up, but sporadic outbreaks continued. Street cars carrying negroes were attacked, windows smashed and other minor disturbances occurred.

Lost Her Money

A little girl reports the loss of a $20.00 bill, all of her savings for seven long weeks work. We believe that if this bill was found and the finder becomes acquainted with the facts that it will be restored to the owner, who will call at the Independent office, hoping that her money will be received. This paper has been the means of restoring many lost articles to the rightful owners and considerable money has been lost and found and directed back to the losers through publicity.

Veteran Dead

Washington, Pa., Sept. 20.—Joseph Day, aged 95, veteran of the Civil War and oldest man in Washington, died yesterday after an illness of five days. His death was due to an injury received in a fall last Monday.

Mr. Day was born in Canton township, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Day. Early in life he learned the shoe-making trade. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in Company K, Sixteenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry. He was twice married. His first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Whiteman Day, died in 1874. Three children were born to this union, two of them, Edward and Jacob Day of Washington, surviving. His second wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Parkinson of Elm Grove, W. Va., six grandchildren and two great grandchildren survive also.

Eight years ago Mr. Day selected the casket in which he wished to be buried. He made arrangement for the funeral, including the payment of all furneral expenses, giving as his reason for this that he did not wish to be troubled with these details.

Served 48 Dinners

Lee Bailey, caterer at the Monongahela Valley country club, served 48 dinners last night, beginning at 6 o'clock. The attendance at the club was unexpectedly large, yet ample provision was on hand and was served. Both chicken and veal dinners were served together with side dishes and desert and the service was excellent and many comments were heard from guests. It was announced in last evening's writeup that members and friends would be made welcome, but the club rooms and grounds are open to members only. Finishing touches are being added daily and by Wednesday at which time the formal opening will be held the place will take on a very attractive and home like appearance.

J. Schnur, 309 Schoonmaker avenue. The funeral will be held Thursday morning at ten o'clock in charge of Rev. A. J. Wigley of the St. Leonard's church, with interement in the Grandview cemetery.

German Propaganda

By L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept 21.--Alleged German propaganda in the United States is to be investigated by the Senate committee inquiring into campaign funds, which will resume sessions here tomorrow.

A "lead" concerning alleged use of money in connection with campaign by some of the same agencies which during the war spread Teuton propaganda in this country has been furnished the committee. Senator Kenyon, the chairman, said it will be followed. Reports concerning reputed Sinn Fein propaganda fund also will be gone into.

Though Kenyon hopes to conclude the present set of hearings Saturday night, the committee will keep its eye on campaign funds clear through the election and will investigate the way the money is spent, if it thinks that necessary, Kenyon indicated.

So far as Gov. Cox's "slush fund" charges are concerned, Kenyon said two more witnesses will end testimony along that line. These are William Boyce Thompson of New York, chairman of the Republican ways and means committee, and William B. Barnes, Jr., of Albany, who it to be asked about his Republican "campaign book". Cox and E. H. Moore, his spokesman before the committee, charged that big interests and men of great wealth were contributing to the Republican campaign fund through Barnes' enterprise, a so called Republican campaign book. Republican leaders on the stand denied Barnes' work had any connection with the Republican national committee.

REPUBLICAN IN POLITICS

THE TWENTY-SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

While we are discussing the national political campaign we should not forget that in order to make a Republican administration fully effective, it is important that we have a safe majority in Congress. Therefore the Twenty-second congressional district has a solemn duty to perform in the selection of its representative. A division in the Republican party has made it possible for a Democrat to win. The Republicans this year have nominated Adam M. Wyant, law partner of the late Edward E. Robbins, who so ably represented us and whose death caused endless grief.

Mr. Wyant's election should be made certain by Republicans of his district. He will be a force in the House for the speedy application of the platform of his party and will represent his district in an able way. He has been a successful practitioner and has won an enviable place at the bar. He is aggressive, methodical and an untiring worker. For many years he has been foremost in the affairs of the county and he has aided the progress of building the highways of townships, county and state.

He has been a contributor to every worthy institution, churches, lodges, Y. M. C. A., etc., and has answered the calls of charity. He believes in progress and will lend his efforts to the program of Americanization outlined by his party and his election is just as important to Westmoreland county and the Twenty-second district as Senator Harding's is to the nation. Every Republican in the district should line up solidly behind him and see to it that a great majority party does not permit the minority to gain the seat.

TAXES: 4,500 B. C. AND NOW

One promptly subscribes to the expression, "God bless the man who invented sleep, "but he does not regard with complacency the thought of the man who first invented taxes Antiquarians have dug up on the banks of the Euphrates a clay tax receipt said to be 4,500 years old.

The fact that the imposition of taxes is an ancient, if not respected, custom does not reconcile present day contributors to the system to the burdens they feel they are called upon to bear. About the only thing the individual admits without demur is that taxes are necessary.

There are some persons who profess to take satisfaction in the payment of taxes in their numerous forms, but everybody else knows that such persons are hypocrites of the rankest sort—for how can any person get satisfaction out of dispensing money that is taken from his purse by due process of law?

About the only thing that can be done to relieve the situation, brought about by the development of civilization, is to make taxes as easy as possible to pay, and sometimes a bit of innocent deception is necessary to convince the taxpayer that he is getting the worth of his money.

While few persons would have difficulty in finding things about which to complain, the business of paying taxes is such a popular cause of complaint that many folks might feel a sense of loss if taxes should be dispensed with. Occasionally, too, a few benefits from taxes can be traced by the person who is not altogether committed to pessimism.

A JOB OF AMERICANIZATION

The American people in the past have looked to the newly arrived immigrants to do their rough work, to dig the ditches and build their railroads and operate the mines and chop down the forests. They have often seemed to forget that these newcomers are human beings, with aspirations of their own, often with keen intelligence.

Left to themselves, these alien elements have created a great unassimilated mass who easily become centers of disaffection and danger. So little having been done for them, many of them see no reason for gratitude to their adopted country, and may join efforts to overthrow its institutions

These conditions were realized during the war, and a movement was begun to give these aliens a better chance to learn American ideas and to acquire knowledge of the language and customs. But while a movement of this kind may start with much enthusiasm, interest in it is always likely to fall off after a time. To give these newcomers the help they need, requires the persistent effort of a great body of people continuously, as well as the willingness of the public to spend a lot of money on educational facilities.

About 1,500,000 aliens will enter the country during the next twelve months. They will be a blessing to the country, if given a helping hand and instruction in American ideas. Otherwise they may be quite course and the assistance they give in physical labor will be very dearly purchased.

The Americanization movement should not be a temporary spurt. It should become a permanent organization, supported by public funds just as the public schools are sustained. It can not depend upon volunteer help alone. Employers must feel their responsibility for helping and training those who come to their shops. It will pay in every way to give these people a lift along the road of American progress.

STIMULATING PRODUCTION INCENTIVES TO PERFORMANCE

In the long run, the only way to get full production out of employes is to demonstrate to them that it is for their personal advantage The employer has to manifest his good will toward his workers, in ways other than talk.

Many students of the psychology of labor, believe that the workers of the country could and would do a lot more, if they were able to see that the increased production benefitted them personally. They feel that there is a great possible reservoir of energy that could be tapped by enlisting a heartier co-operation on the part of labor.

A good many concerns are trying to enlist this better co-operation, by trying profit sharing schemes. Some of them have worked well In other cases the employes have felt that the share of profit awarded them was no more than they were entitled to as a part of their regular wages. Also many business men feel that if labor is to share profits, it should share losses also when such occur. But employees would prefer a dependable wage, rather than take their chances on the gains and losses of business.

The time has come when it will pay capitalists to take their workers more into their confidence. Interest in production is dulled in many plants by greatly exaggerated talespread around about the profits the concern is making. If employes are told the company is making 100 per cent when they are only making 10 they naturally do not feel much inspiration for hustle.

Increase of production is the only way to meet the high cost of living It can be accomplished by an intelligent effort by the capitalist to train his workers in standard methods and to give them substantial incentives for better work, and by a willingness on the part of labor to give its best effort and intelligence to accomplish better production.

In Cherry Time

By JESSIE E. SHERWIN

(©, 1930, Western Newspaper Union.)

"What does Cousin Aggie say?" inquired Mrs. Buxton of her seventeen-year old daughter, as the latter read a letter she had just received.

"Just commonplace news, mamma," responded Nellie Buxton. "She writes me, however, to be sure to tell you that they have the most wonderful cherry crop ever was, and that Uncle Silas will ship you three bushels in about two weeks."

"H'm!" remarked Mrs. Buxton, a trifle discomposed. "I have heard that the cherry crop is phenomenal all over the country and no one to pick them except at three times the usual rate. It is thoughtful of Silas to remember us, but I wonder if he understands that the city is rationed on sugar."

"Can't we double up on buying and have enough on hand to use when the fruit arrives?" suggested Nellie.

"Hardly. One grocer allows us just a pound a day, and then at five times above normal price. I don't mind that so much, for sugar is a necessity."

"I suppose it would take quite a lot to do up three bushels of cherries," ventured Oscar Reed, who was sitting by, but usually very uncommunicative when in the presence of the mother of the family. Mrs. Buxton had laid down some pretty stringent rules as to Nellie and her company. Oscar was allowed to call in the evening once a week only, and then he passed the hour or two granted in the same room with the family. If there was any entertainment going on Nellie did not get a chance to accept Oscar's invitation as an escort unless her parents accompanied them.

"Nellie is too young to get a lot of love nonsense into her head," Mrs Buxton had once remarked, and Oscar overheard her and considered her an ogress, but he was politic enough ever to defend his present sparse privileges and to try winning her good graces in every way possible.

So when Mrs. Buxton computed the sugar needs of the cherry season ahead, Oscar made a mental note of the same and, recalling as well that it would be her birthday about the time Uncle Silas would ship the cherries, he took credit to himself for devising a scheme that would certainly win the favorable opinion of the mother of his inamorata.

"Said anything to your mother about the picnic we are invited to, Nellie?" questioned Oscar breathlessly in the bare minute and a half allowed them to linger on the veranda.

"Oh, yes, and I can go, of course, but the family are planning to attend too," and Oscar sighed at the prospect he had anticipated of having Nellie all day to himself.

"I won't get discouraged," he ruminated on his way homeward bound. "Sugar! It has always made me think of sweet darling Nellie! Now it's going to make me think of her mother. How am I going to work it? I declare! it's beginning to rain," and, without storm coat or umbrella Oscar hastened his steps and sought shelter under an awning in front of a store given over to second-hand goods of varied sorts, including clothing. The array of suits, hats, overcoats and the like was heterogeneous enough to allow a wide choice of attire. Then as Oscar's gaze rested upon the big department store opposite, his eyes glowed brightly and he smiled.

"The very combination!" he chuckled. "I have the dinner hour to put in motion my grand scheme for acquiring a small-sized refinery in the sugar line. Sure, I can work it. Let me see if I can manage to capture five pounds per day for two weeks. That would mean a bulk of sixty pounds, more than enough to put up those cherries furnished by Uncle Silas, and probably sweeten up the strict old lady I would be glad to cherish as a mother-in-law."

Next day Oscar visited the store of the dealer in a second-hand goods. Without much trouble he arranged to have the temporary use of such articles as he needed for his bold plan of becoming a sugar miser. He did not waste any time on noonday luncheon, but entered the grocery department of the department store where one pound of the saccharine novelty was sold to a customer. Appearing first in propria personae, then with another hat and a grotesquely plaided overcoat, even with a silk tile and wearing goggles, in the crowd he was not recognized as the audacious repeater that he was.

Oscar kept track of the promised shipment from Uncle Silas. He chose the evening of their arrival for his once-a-week call upon Nellie. He found all hands pitting the fruit, but Mrs. Buxton in a gloomy mood because she had not the sugar to put up more than half a bushel.

"Nellie told me this is your birthday, Mrs. Buxton," observed Oscar innocently. "I have a little offering that may be of use to you. It's on the porch—sixty pounds of sugar."

"Say! I'll pay you double price for it, just to make me smiling and jolly again!" declared Mr. Buxton, but Oscar insisted on the free acceptance of his little gift, and Mrs. Buxton fairly beamed upon him. Her heartfelt acknowledgment of his clever donation was expressed by keeping the rest of the family at work in the kitchen, while she shooed him and Nellie out into the garden with the remark:

"Too many cooks spoil the broth," and the first of many blissful hours alone with Nellie came into the fortunate young man's life.

SONGS THAT ARE IMMORTAL

Greatest Minds of All the Ages Bestowed Their Labors on the Poems of Homer.

The Iliad and Odyssey were probably sung by Homer about a century and a half after the destruction of the town of Troy following the ten years of war that was waged in the cause of Menelaus, king of Lacedemon, whose consort had been carried away by the son of the Trojan monarch. The two poems are as old as David's psalms. Originally the Iliad would appear not to have been a single connected poem, but to have attained at a later period its present complete state.

About one hundred years after Homer, Lycurgus, the lawgiver of Lacedemon, brought these poems into Greece, and two centuries and a half later Pisistratus is supposed to have given them their perfect form. His son Hipparcus introduced the custom of reciting rhapsodies at the Panathenaia, or festival of the tutelar goddess. A more complete edition of the Homeric poems, from which the modern ones are taken, was prepared for Alexander the Great by Aristotle, which the former used to keep under his pillow in a golden case. Also Aratus, the astronomer, Aristarchus of Samos, and Aristophanes, librarian at Alexandria, bestowed their labor on these immortal songs. Because of the fine moral sentiment, Homer became the pattern of Thucydides, the favorite author of the greatest and noblest men, and one of the best teachers of the wisdom of human life.—Detroit News.

Bridegroom Charged With Embezzlement

Charged with embezzling funds of the Commercial National Bank at Bradford, Pa., Carl W. Anderson, aged 21, formerly employed as a clerk in the bank was turned over to the United States Marshal in Pittsburgh yesterday, after being brought back from Fort Worth, Tex., where he was arrested seevral days ago.

The total amount of his reported defalcation is not announced. The only amount set forth in the complaint is $2,150, said to have been taken last June. Bail for his release, pending a hearing, was placed at $10,000.

Accompanying the prisoner was his young wife, to whom he was married about one month ago. Mrs. Anderson remained at her husband's side all the time he was in custody of the marshal.

A news dispatch from Bradford asserts that Anderson and other Bradford men took up a lease for oil some time ago in the Mid-Continental field, which later was reported sold at a profit of $10,000 to each of the reputed holders.

A few weeks ago Anderson went to Fort Worth and a short time afterward was joined by Miss Dora Dempsey, of Bradford. They were married at Graham, Texas, about the same time the bride's sister, Miss Kathryn Dempsey, was married to Christopher Stauffer at the home of Stauffer's relatives in Graham. The sisters visited their home in Bradford a day or two after the weddings, but Mrs. Anderson returned to Texas and arrived there about the same time her husband was arrested.

Assistant United States District Attorney A. P. Burgwin, who is handling the case for the government, said the hearing will be held before the commissioner the latter part of the week.

Poles Gaining

(By United Press)

Warsaw, Sept. 21—Smashing successes in Galicia were claimed in the Polish communique today.

Dubno, northeast of Lemberg, was occupied after hard fighting, the report said. The Poles claimed to hold a line in Galicia running through Hustatyn, Trembowla, Oleszow and Tarnopol.

of Pine Timber Only Kept in Check by Strenuous Natural and Artificial Control.

Special study has been made of the number of all stages of the western pine beetle in 330 square feet of infested bark selected from 67 trees, which represented an average infestation within an area of approximately 36 square miles, says the American Forestry Magazine. It is shown there is a large percentage of mortality between the young and matured stages in the developing broods, but that normally an average of about 150 beetles to the square foot of bark developed to the adult, or reproductive, stage; which would be 50,000 beetles to the average infested tree, or, say 30,000 beetles to 1,000 board feet of timber. Since it requires an average of about ten beetles to the square foot to attack and kill a vigorous, healthy tree, it will be seen, says the American Forestry association, which is campaigning for a national forest policy, that all the pine timber of the western forests would soon be destroyed were it not for natural and artificial control.

League of Women Makes Preparations For Voting

With Mrs. Richard Woods of Irwin, county chairman, presiding, representatives of various groups of women affiliated with the Westmoreland county League of Women Voters, met last week in the Y. M. C. A. building at Greensburg. Plans were made for the work of the organization leading up to election day.

The education of the new women voters in matters of citizenship, was the trend of concern manifested in the conference. In order that the new voters may be more intelligent about the ballot and the privileges of the ballot than the male voters, a series of lessons in citizenship is proposed.

All women who desire to vote in the coming elections must pay their tax of 40 cents before October 2. Tax collectors are ready to receive the money and have been provided with the special tax receipts which women must secure and take with them to the polls.

Whether women who are married between the date of registering and the November election will be entitled to vote is puzzling members of some election boards. Attorney W. S. Rial, county solicitor, believes that women whose names were changed by marriage would have a right to vote, no matter if they were registered under their maiden name. In such a case, the women would be obliged to prove their identity.

OH! MY STOMACH

"I had stomach trouble so badly that nothing I ate would digest as it should," said Sadie E. Hamilton, Portland, Me., as she began a remarkable story of the relief she has secured from Argo-Phosphate, the new reconstructive, stomach tonic and system purifier.

"Everything that I ate would lie in my stomach like a lump," she explained. "Gas would form and I would suffer distress all the time. I got so I could hardly keep anything down. Trying to get relief, I had my stomach pumped out, but even this did not help me as I continued just as bad.

"I kept hearing so much about Argo-Phosphate that I thought maybe it might help me and I decided to try it. I have taken two bottles and to my surprise I am already feeling fine. I can eat anything and am not troubled at all.

"I am completely rid of my old stomach trouble that I had for three years. I have not felt so well in years and I am certainly glad to endorse Argo-Phosphate because I want others to be helped by this wonderful medicine."

"The spirit of wanting to help others is what makes suffering men and women give these splendid public endorsements of Argo-Phosphate," said a local druggist.

Quacks' Doom Seen In New Medical Bill

(By United Press)

London--The man who comes to England to try to sell a box of pills which cure sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, backaches, tired feet, scarlet fever and measels, is going to have a sorry time.

The proprietary medicines bill has arrived to put a stop to his oratory. "Quack" remedies are to be prohibited and all proprietary preparations and appliances are to be registered complete with full description as well as the owner's name.

Some remedies are prohibited altogether. Among these come remedies for cancer, consumption, lupus, deafness, fits, epilepsy, diabetes, paralysis, locomotor ataxy, Bright's disease and rupture. These may not be sold or offered or advertised for sale, and the prohibition applies to "any medicine or surgeal appliance of any kind whatsoever, purporting or stated directly or by implication to be effective for the prevention, cure, or relief of the diseases named." Other diseases may be added at the discretion the minister of health.

Altogether, the bill covens every trick of the "quack doctors" trade right down to the advertising of testimonials. Very soon all those philantrophists who have been administering mysterious pills for England's ills will have to pack their grips and seek more renumerative climes.

Morocco Thrives, Say 2 Americans

(By United Press)

Paris--Two American Red Cross officers, Captains Robert S. Doman, of Bay City, Mich., and Merl LaVoy, of Seattle, Wash., who have returned to Paris after an official tour of Northern Africa give some interesting figures to indicate that Morocco is rapidly gaining in economic importance. From a wild expanse of unproductive country, peopled largely by Arab tribes, in 1912, Morocco has developed in the past seven years into what promises to become a thriving modern commercial and industrial nation doing business on a large scale in all the markets of the world.

Anti-Alcoholists Gather at Capital

World Scientists and "Dry" Advocates Attend Washington Congress

Washington, Sept. 21—Nearly 1,500 official representatives from practically all civilized nations and delegates from all important temperance societies in the world met here today in the opening session of the Fifteenth International Congress Against Alcoholism.

World-known scientists, economists, physicians, physchologists and criminologists will present in a six day program this week an exhaustive, scientific indictment of John Barleycorn and all his works.

Every variety of opinion on alcholism and the proper methods for regulating liquor traffic is held by the delegates.

French representatives of the Ligue Centre l'Alcool conceive prohibition as applying to brandies and cognac—but not as to light wines. Some of the Teutonic representatives except beer, and several Scandinavians favor the "Bratt system"—consisting in a "liquor card" system and licensed drinking clubs.

A remarkable attendance is scheduled this year's congress, countries and delegates being generally anxious to secure data as to the success of complete prohibition here. Although the congress is expected to give a great impetus to the anti-alcohol campaign throughout the world, no definite organization to secure world-wide prohibition will be formed here. In addition to the varying views of the members, the congress regards prohibition as a purely national problem.

Americans in charge of the affair call attention to the predominance in the membership of independent scientists, economists and sociologists of repute, and the comparative absence of clergymen and so-called professional "temperance advocates."

The Fifteenth Congress is a postponement of one prevented by the outbreak of the World War in 1914.

Since then temperance victories have been gained, notably the "eighteenth amendment" in the United States; various "war prohibition" enactments in European countries; complete prohibition in Finland, 1919; local option granted in Denmark and Scotland; "light wines only" prohibition in Norway, 1919 and establishment of the "Bratt system" in Sweden.

Since the last congress several new countries have come into being as a result of the war. Practically all have representation in congress.

In spite of the fact that we are still technically at war with Germany and Austria, these latter countries will have several representatives at the Washington congress.

Prof. Dr. J. Gonser of Berlin, is a member of the executive committee in charge of the affair and will deliver an address.

Prominent foreign names on the program are: Dr. Ley, of the University of Brussels; Dr. Legrain, Paris; Dr. Amalfi, Florence, and Dr. Eudo Monti, Turin.

An interesting figure will be Dr. M. Helenius-Seppala, the "Kramer" of Finland, the only other country with America to have absolute prohibition.

Americans included on the program are: William Jennings Bryan, Attorney-General Palmer, Secretary of Navy Daniels, and Dr. Hravey W. Wiley.

The President of the congress is Premier Jonkheer, Ch. Ruijs de Beerenbrouck, of Holland.

The chairman of the American executive committee who made arrangements for the congress is Edwin C. Pinwiddie, formerly of the Anti-Saloon league.

Tokyo Plans Stadium For Oriental Games

(By United Press)

Tokyo, Sept. 19.—In order that she may take a commanding place in athletic events in the Orient, particularly the Oriental Olympic sports, Tokyo is building a vast athletic park and stadium at a cost of more than a million yen. The track will be larger than the Olympic Track in Stockholm and great care has been exercised in the planning thereof, this being in charge of experts who were sent to Europe to study the best features of tracks there. The tracks will include one of the 400 yards and another of 200 yards, but the original plan to include a baseball diamond was abandoned, it being common opinion that the two features cannot be successfully combined.

On the west side of the field will be an inclined grassy slope ,which will be able to accomodate some 40,000 spectators, while on the east side will be a grandstand with seats for 15,000 spectators Inside this stand will be dressing and bath rooms, dining halls and even dormitories for visiting teams. Work on leveling the grounds has already begun, and it is expected that the entire structure will be completed by 1925.

Teachers Pay Boosted

Harrisburg Sept. 20—Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, state school superintendent, today in an address to the Chamber of Commerce of Harrisburg declared for more pay for teachers, 10 months' school in rural districts, more training for teachers and the extension of the junior high school to rural districts. He also asserted a bill to establish the state university proposed by Attorney General William I. Schaffer in the discussion on education before the state Constitutional Commission would be drafted in time for the next Legislature and that he believed it could be operated without interfering with the universities and Pennsylvania State College.

ATTENDING TO HER CHICKENS AND GARDEN

"My neighbors are surprised to seen me looking so well, for they thought I would not live to see summer. I had such pain around my heart as to cause me to faint. I knew it came from bloating and pressure of gas in my stomach. A friend in St Louis told me to use Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I now feel better than in all my life. I am doing my own work, attending to my crickens and my garden and have cleaned house." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Craig's Drug Store, and druggists everywhere. 1t

RECIPES OF OUR PIONEER MOTHERS

for the home treatment is disease were wonderfully dependable. True, they knew nothing of drugs, but owed their success to the roots, herbs and barks of the field. It is interesting to note that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful remedy for female ills we have, was originally prepared for home use from one of these recipes. Its fame has now spread from shore to shore, and thousands of American women now well and strong, claim they owe their health and happiness to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Viola Dana at the Olympic Today

Take it from Viola Dana, it's easier to make one's shoulder's misbehave than to make one's toes perform.

And the dainty Metro star knows. In "The Chorus Girl's Romance," her newest special production at the Olympic Theatre today and tomorrow, several shimmy dancers and a faithful reproduction of a Pavlowa toe dance are included in the list of novelties contributed to the picture by Miss Dana.

Incidentally, Miss Dana claims credit for being the only star actually to do a toe dance in a picture. Heretofor this difficult feat has been managed by professional dancers who "doubled" for star, or has been eliminated from the story by the director before it was filmed

The Cast includes:

Marcia Meadows	Viola Dana
Horace Tarbox	Gareth Huges
Steve Reynolds	Phil Ainsworth
P P. Anderson	William Quinn
Betty Darrell	Jerre Sundin
Fred Ward	Sidney De Grey
Jose Brasswine	Lawrence Grant
Charlie Moon	Tom Gallery
Dr. Tarbox	Edward Jobson
F. W. Jordon	Martyn Best
Aunt Emma	Anna Shaefer
Miss Wilson	Dorothy Gordon
Prof Dillinger	Wm. Mong

"I Want Something Good"

That about sums up the average man's clothing preferences. He has no preconceived notions as to style, and, in many cases, as to price.

He may have special leaning towards one color or another—and he may have his particular objection to one or two colors. But, outside of that, he wants "something good."

So, when we sell a man—we make it a point, without telling us, of giving him clothes that insure satisfaction. Just the kind of cut and drape to suit his peculiar "style of beauty."
